

Internet Connectivity

Through an agent partnership with Intelisys, our denomination has access to over 50 providers of Data, Voice, and Internet connectivity in the United States, Canada, and beyond.

Cost: Pricing will vary depending on the specific need and the options available (i.e. which vendors we can leverage) in your specific area.

How to get started:

Contact Covenant Technologies by sending a request to CovTech@CovChurch.org. We will work with you to assess what your bandwidth requirements are, determine what you are currently paying for (bandwidth for the buck), assess your current contractual obligations, and then work with Intelisys to determine which solution will yield the best benefit for your specific need (in terms of getting you the most reliable bandwidth at the cheapest rate).

Who is Intelisys?

Founded in December 1994, Intelisys is widely regarded as the industry leading Master Agency distributor of telecommunications network services in the Channel. The company has built a solid reputation with its Sales Partners, Supplier Partners, and end-user customers as a successful and high integrity company to do business with.

Today, Intelisys is focused on empowering the independent sales channel by assisting business telecom customers in making informed choices about services, technology, and cost savings. Intelisys delivers the best carrier neutral solutions to end-user customers through an elite nationwide network of telecom sales and consulting professionals.

For a complete list of network providers through which we can secure reliable and competitively priced service, visit: <http://www.intelisys.com/supplierportfolio>